

The 36-year gap since the most recent Triple Crown sweep by Affirmed in 1978 is the longest in the history of the series. The previous record was the 25-year span between the 1948 Triple Crown earned by Citation and Secretariat's record-shattering three-race sweep in 1973.

The Triple Crown races produced three separate winners in 2013. Phipps Stable and Stuart Janney III's Orb won the Kentucky Derby, Calumet Farm's Oxbow earned the victory in the Preakness and Dogwood Stable's Palace Malice took the Belmont Stakes.

A total of 51 3-year-olds have won two of the Triple Crown's three races. Reddam Racing's I'll Have Another became the most recent to do so when he won the 2012 Kentucky Derby and Preakness, but did not compete in the Belmont Stakes.

TRIPLE CROWN NOMINATION HISTORY

The Triple Crown nomination procedure was initiated in 1986. The largest number of nominees to the Triple Crown was 460 in 2007 and 2008. Before 1986, the largest number of Kentucky Derby nominees was 432 in 1981; the smallest, 32, in 1913. The early nomination fee has been $600 from the start. The late nomination has been $6,000 since 1994. Prior to 1994, the late nomination was $3,000 (1986-90) and $4,500 (1991-93). The following is a listing of Triple Crown nominees since 1986, including early and late totals.
